Florida and Texas Generate Most South Region Revenue

Key Insights

February is consistently the weakest month, while October 2025 stands out as an exceptional spike that should be investigated before assuming it will repeat.

Technology is the South Region's highest-performing category and is the primary contributor during peak sales periods.

Florida generates the most revenue, with Texas close behind, while South Carolina contributes a much smaller share.

Educational books remain consistent top sellers throughout the year, providing a reliable revenue base.

Recommendations

1. Prioritize Technology inventory and marketing, since it is the South Region's largest revenue driver.
2. Focus inventory planning and promotional efforts on Florida and Texas, where they will have the greatest business impact.
3. Use February for inventory planning, employee training, and operational improvements before higher-demand periods.
4. Review the promotions, product mix, and external factors that contributed to the October 2025 surge to determine whether they can be replicated..
5. Maintain consistent inventory of high-performing educational and popular fiction titles throughout the year.
